Other change The changes in the Application for European Community-U.S. Cooperation Program are the result of negotiations carried out over the past six months between the U.S. Department of Education, the U.S. State Department, and the European Commission which represents the twenty-five nations of the European Union. The focus of the curriculum development portion of the program has shifted from supporting a wide variety of international curriculum development projects, such as modules, single courses, and sets of courses called minors or concentrations, to implementing dual degree curriculum development projects. Other minor changes include the deletion of the category of one-year planning grants, reducing the consortium requirements from six to three institutions, and extending support from three to four years. Burden hours, and record keeping costs will remain the same.
